Catfood Weather is a weather application designed to be compatible with all Windows versions (7, 8, 8.1, 10). Catfood Weather is fully configurable. It has several different ways of displaying the weather. You can choose to show the temperature of the current day, the maximum temperature, the minimum temperature, the current wind speed, the current barometric pressure, or the percent chance of precipitation. You can even display each of the temperatures for each month. How to Install: A basic version of Catfood Weather is available for download. An updated version is available in the application directory on the Windows Marketplace. How to Activate: If the application was downloaded from the Windows Marketplace, there is a checkbox in the "Add a Program" dialog box that allows you to activate the application. If you downloaded the application from the Internet, the application will activate automatically at launch, but it must be run again to deactivate. How to Uninstall: If you want to completely remove the application, click the "Remove the program" button. If you want to deactivate the program, click the "Deactivate this program" button. How to Configure: Click the "Change settings" button. A dropdown menu will appear. Click the "Select location" button. The location you selected will appear in the "Location" box. You can select any location in the United States by entering a ZIP code. The current weather information for each location you select will be displayed. You can change the weather information displayed by selecting from one of the following tabs: Maximum temperature: Maximum temperature for the day. Minimum temperature: Minimum temperature for the day. Current temperature: The temperature of the current day. Wind speed: The current wind speed. Precipitation: The percentage of precipitation (0% through 100%). Day: The amount of time until the next scheduled high or low in the current day. Month: Temperature for each month. Warning: To display today's weather, make sure the checkbox in the "Advanced options" dialog box is checked. Note: This application currently does not report current weather information for Hawaii.
